REPUBLICANS!

They Hold a Rousing County Convention.

Unity and Harmony Prominently Displayed.

A Big Meeting at Utmost Good Will Prevailed.

STRONG TICKET NOMINATED.

The republican convention for the purpose of nominating a ticket to be voted for by the people of Bernalillo county at the coming November election, assembled at Grant's opera house at 10 o'clock this morning, in accordance with the call of the county central committee.

The convention was promptly called to order by Hon. E. S. Stover, chairman of the republican county central committee.

The official call for the convention was read by Secretary Kimball.

J. A. Rivera acted as interpreter.

Mr. Stover then addressed the meeting, calling the attention of the gentlemen selected as delegates to the convention to the importance of the duty before them, counselling them to act in harmony, to put aside all minor and personal interests and work together for the general good of the county and territory.

He also referred to national affairs and drew a parallel between the issues represented by Messrs. Catron and Joseph, the nominees of the respective parties for delegate from New Mexico.

He referred especially to the fact that the democratic papers talk a great deal about Mr. Catron being a "bull-dog," and he said the experience of the last few years under Joseph had shown us that what we most need in Washington just now is a small portion of that quality which is commonly known as "bull-dogging," that is, a man with force enough and energy enough to stand up in congress and demand that New Mexico be fairly treated.

He then reviewed the efforts that had been made by the respective committees of the "regulars" and the "independents" to bring the two divisions of the party together and unite the republicans of Bernalillo county in a common effort against the common enemy.

He then announced that nominations for temporary chairman would be in order.

Mr. Hubbell nominated Mr. R. B. Meyers.

No other nominations were made and Mr. Meyers was unanimously elected by acclamation.

The temporary chairman, on taking his seat, was received with a rousing cheer from the convention, and in a few words thanked the convention for the honor conferred upon him, and announced that he was ready for business.

Mr. W. J. Haney was chosen as temporary secretary.

Mr. Epeninio Miera was chosen as interpreter on the floor.

On motion of Mr. Denham the chair appointed five on credentials, consisting of Messrs. D. Denham, R. W. Hopkins, A. Sandoval, Jesus Castillo and M. A. Jaramillo.

Dr. Winslow moved the appointment by the chair of a committee of five on permanent organization.

The motion prevailed and the chair appointed Messrs. Winslow, Hubbell, Romero, Wilson and Mulholland.

Mr. Hughes moved that the chair appoint a committee of five on resolutions. The report was adopted and the chair appointed Messrs. Hughes, Pera, Hunt, Rivera and Sandoval.

A recess was then taken to give the committee on credentials an opportunity to prepare their report.

The committee on credentials then presented their report, and convention adjourned till 3 o'clock p. m.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

The convention reassembled at 2 p. m. The committee on permanent organization reported in favor of making the temporary officers permanent.

The report was received and unanimously adopted.

The committee on resolutions, through its chairman, then submitted its report.

Mr. Pedro Pera submitted as an amendment an additional resolution.

[The resolutions will be published in tomorrow's issue.]

The report as a whole was then unanimously adopted.

The following resolutions, adopting device of ticket, etc., were read and adopted:

Resolved, That this convention does

Great Republican Demonstration Last Night.

Hon. T. R. Catron Greeted with an Ovation.

The Next Delegate Makes a Rousing Speech.

ABSTRACT OF THE ADDRESS.

Yesterday was republican day in Albuquerque, and it was a rouser.

The remarkable y harmonious convention and excellent ticket nominated put the members of the party in excellent humor, and when Hon. Thos. E. Catron arrived in the city at 7:15 o'clock in the evening, he was met at the depot by a throng of friends and admirers with the old town band in the lead discoursing excellent music, and escorted to Grant's opera house, where a crowded house awaited his coming. The hall was literally packed.

Mr. Thos. A. Finkel, president of the Republican League club, presided, and introduced the distinguished speaker, who will on the 6th of November sweep this territory with a tremendous republican majority.

Amidst thunderous applause the Hon. T. E. Catron arose, his right hand resting upon a magnificent bouquet, with which the forethought of his fair lady constituents had decked the stand, and with commanding presence and resonant tones delivered a forcible and eloquent oration upon the vital topics of the times, of which the following is a brief abstract:

Preluding his discourse with a happy analogy between his position in this campaign and that of General Butler in a former candidacy, in a few and dignified words he spurned the vile accusations of his political opponents as being matter of filth and drivell unworthy the further attention of a self-respecting man, and "which no one but a knave or coward could allege and no one but an idiot could believe," and thereupon he proceeded to an acute dissection of the political situation.

The momentous question now before us (he said) is whether we should return to congress a man who had been misrepresenting us there for ten years past, who had shown himself abjectly submissive to a party wholly hostile to the interests of this territory, and whose summa gloria and utmost attainment had been to secure for the hungry citizens of New Mexico the meagre appropriations that would have come of their own accord and in the ordinary course of events; or whether we should install in the halls of congress, a delegate to protect their interests at heart and the ability to protect them.

From an era of unparalleled prosperity, under the administration of President Harrison, under the salutary provisions of a protective tariff and the healthy operation of the late silver purchase act, the whole nation had sunk to paucity and poverty on the advent of democratic power.

The effects of this baneful influence were not long in manifesting themselves in our territory. Sheep, that were worth at least $2.50 per head within the past two years, are now vainly seeking a market at seventy-five cents; wool that was sold at from eighteen to twenty-two cents per pound is now worth from six to eight cents; thus has the new tariff schedule shattered and destroyed our main and supporting industry, sheep growing. The price of horned cattle, formerly $12 to $15 per head, continues to sink, and four weeks hence must reach the beggarly figure of from $4 to $5, due to the importation of vast herds from Mexico, made possible by the reduction of the tariff. Already 90,000 head of such foreign stock are passing through our territory, over the protest of our people, three train loads of which are the property of a certain English lord—a species of creature specially and intentionally favored by the Wilson bill, and the idol and admiration of his democratic admirers.

The Anglo-manifest of the democratic party is well illustrated by a special telegram from Mr. Carlisle, requesting that the passage of his lordship's stock to Chicago be expedited in every way, even to the omission of the sanitary inspection required by law. One hundred thousand more such cattle have passed the Mexican frontier into Texas. Such stock on the Mexican range sell at $2.50 in American money; the ad valorem duty would bring this up to $3. Such is to be the competition against which our cattle men must very soon stand, who even under the present circumstances find it hard to pay actual expenses, and who must, in the face of these unpleasant facts, see, sooner or later, the total destruction of the industry. Lumber has declined from $3 per thousand, stumpage, to $2.25; coal has dropped proportionately; lead has fallen from $4 per 100 to $3.30, under the benign influence of Wilsonism. Mr. Joseph endorses this condition of things in toto, and earnestly prays for more.

Our silver ignorance, once so prosperous, have gone to ruin, and why? Because an overbushy people, fearful of the consequences of their ill-considered and unworldly act in placing the democratic party in power, by holding back investment and securing their capital, produced ed a panic, which having to be attributed by the democrats to some cause other than the real one, was laid at the door of silver, and the purchase act was repealed by Grover's special congress. The republican statute provided for the purchase of fifty-two million ounces of silver annually, a quantity which added to the amount employed normally in the arts, was equal to our total production of that metal.

The democratic party having full control of the reins of government, ruthlessly repealed this beneficent act, closed our mines, shut down our smelters, and reduced a large number of our citizens to beggary. And what answer have they to make to our complaint? The same answer that a New York police judge made to a gentleman lately arrived from France. This gentleman had engaged in the raising of poultry, which he kept in his cellar at night, and let out in the daytime. One night the water pipe burst and drowned all his gallinaceous cacklers, whereupon he took himself to the police court, and said to the judge: "Yer honor, of ye please, me name is Mulligan, and I'm engaged in the poultry business and last night me warther pipes burst and kilt me fowls, an' I'm after askin' damages." The police judge answered: "I'm sorry for you, Mr. Mulligan, but why in h—l didn't you raise ducks?" So the democratic party says to us: "We are sorry, but why in h—l don't you mine gold?"

(Mr. Catron here excused himself for the spicy nature of his remark, on the ground of quotation.)

Mr. Joseph has stood by inactive while these ruinous measures were becoming laws. Not one word of protest has he raised against the destruction of our prosperity and happiness. And now he wants to be returned to the trust he has violated that he may violate it anew.

Every republican believes in the protection of American industries; he believes in paying out our money to our citizens, so that it may remain in the country and come back to him at need; he does not believe in paying it to the Englishman, or the Frenchman, or the German, to be carried across the seas never to return. Our own people, and not foreigners, should receive the benefit of our laws. The republicans of New Mexico have the principles of their party at heart, and they mean to adhere to them as a part of truth and eternal right. Our opponents tell us that we must renounce these principles and violate every trust in whose verity we believe. We must become moral towards and traitors to ourselves or the democratic congress will not permit us to become a state. On such conditions no true man desires statehood. A democratic victory at the coming election would demonstrate to the country that we are incapable of governing ourselves. Let us be true to our principles and our beliefs, and when we send a republican delegate to the next congress it is reasonable to believe that with a republican majority in the lower house and a large augmentation of republican power in the senate, our rights will no longer be denied us.

Mr. Catron then spoke of the unusual harmony existing in the republican ranks throughout the territory, and predicted a good republican victory in the coming election.

STRONG RESOLUTIONS.

The Following Resolutions Adopted by the Republicans.

WHAT THEY ADVOCATE.

The republicans of Bernalillo county, in convention assembled, re-affirm our allegiance and adherence to the principles as enunciated in the platform of the party adopted at the last national convention, and also the principles enunciated in the platform of the republican party of this territory, in convention assembled at Socorro, to be:

Resolved, That we heartily endorse the nomination of the Honorable Thomas E. Catron as our standard bearer for congressional delegate, and point with pride to his long and honorable career as the leader of the republican party in New Mexico; the tongue of slander and the envy of opponents have left his character unimpaired; and we pledge him the largest majority ever given a republican nominee for that office in our county.

We pledge the nominees of this convention to the strictest economy in the transaction of the public business, which will be entrusted to their care.

Resolved, That the republicans of this county of the arid do pledge themselves to use their best efforts, and the senators and representatives who are this day nominated are instructed to use all honorable means at the next session of the legislative assembly to secure a new county to be known as Summit county, with the following boundaries: On the north by San Juan county, on the east by the west line of range eight, west of the New Mexico principal meridian, on the south by the north line of Socorro county, and on the west by the line of the territory of New Mexico.

We are in favor of some equitable measure by congress to settle the title to mineral lands on land grants, as a matter of great importance to this territory.

We favor the greatest encouragement to our public schools, believing that the universal education of the children is necessary to the stability of the nation.

We favor the enactment of such laws as will place the employees on an equal footing with the public at large, as to damages caused to them in the line of their employment; and pledge our members to the territorial assembly to work to that end.

We advocate the establishment of special national courts to be held and determined by questions of difference between employers and employees, which may be affected by the interstate commerce clause of the constitution, and similar courts in the states and territories, when such differences may not be affected by that clause.

We condemn the attempt of the democratic party of this territory to make our admission as a state a party issue, and urge upon congress the early passage of a bill admitting New Mexico to statehood.

We denounce the present delegates to congress for their active and assistance in the formation of large irrigating companies in the state of Colorado, which said companies have diverted the waters of the Rio Grande to the great injury of the people of New Mexico, and we demand that congress shall appoint a commission to equitably settle the interstate controversy regarding water rights.

The offense of contempt of court should be clearly defined, and the power to punish there distinctly limited by both national and territorial legislation, in order that our courts may not become the agents of corporations for the oppression of their employees, or used as instruments of political persecution.

We denounce the action of the democratic congress, which by free trade legislation has ruined the wool, silver, cattle and lead industries of this territory, and will give our emphatic protest against such legislation at the ballot box in November.

Resolved, That the legislative committee, if elected, pledge themselves to use their best efforts to pass a law defining the northern boundary of Bernalillo county.

only four miles away, and there is the Cochiti district with mountains of just such ore as smelter needs. With the material necessary for fluxing, etc., in such close proximity to Cerrillos, the Cochiti district alone will furnish ore enough for two or more smelters. Another great advantage to its being a smelting point is the abundance of water close at hand. Denver Mining Record.

VICTOR L. OCHOA.

He is captured by Texas Rangers at Fort Stanton.

The news reached here last Saturday night of the capture of Victor L. Ochoa, on Friday, the day before, by rangers at Fort Stanton. Captain Hughes, of the rangers, informed a Tribune representative that the general would not be brought to El Paso until tomorrow.

When the rangers approached him and demanded his surrender, he did not deny his identity and gave up without any resistance, but declared to the arresting officers that he would not be delivered to the Mexican authorities alive, and did not believe that his crimes, if any, being purely political, compelled him to be extradited to a foreign power, and left aware that so far as the government of the United States was concerned, he was perfectly safe, and would again obtain his freedom. He had committed no crime in this country, unless he, as an American citizen, had violated the "treaty of friendship" existing between the United States and Mexico.

There is no law by which he can be extradited to Mexico. General Ochoa is an American citizen, and as such he will have the protection of his country so far as Mexico is concerned.

The complaint against him here is that he was connected with the alleged revolution at Tomochit, and very likely will be tried for that.

Gov. Abundia, of Chihuahua, has pardoned all revolutionists, but made an exception in the case of Victor L. Ochoa, who not being a Mexican, does not affect him in the least unless caught in that country. Ochoa was not a Mexican revolutionist.

He is a man well-known in El Paso. Having at one time published a paper here. He has a bad reputation as a "dead beat and swindler," and doubtless many of his victims here and elsewhere, will be glad that he has been caught and that the law will be meted out to him according to his crimes.—El Paso Tribune.

COMMENTING EARLY.

New Directors Chosen for the Next Territorial Fair.

Pursuant to previous suggestion by the Citizens that the Territorial Fair association ought to get together early and organize for the next big territorial fair, Wallace Henselien, president of the association, called a meeting of the citizens, and in response to his notice, published in this Citizen, a rousing, enthusiastic crowd of public-spirited citizens met upstairs over Zeigler's Cafe yesterday afternoon, after this paper had gone to press, and proceeded to select a new directory for the next year's fair.

The meeting was presided over by the president, Mr. Henselien, while W. J. Wilson, the secretary, took down the minutes.

Those present entered into a general discussion in regard to the fair, the manner of selecting the directors, etc., after which the following gentlemen were chosen:

J. G. Albright, George H. Browne, Andrew Smith, A. A. Keen, E. S. Stover, S. Burke, C. M. Gracch, Julius Klemm, M. B. Otero, J. K. Saint, Simon Stern, Newfield, John C. Muir, W. C. Hadley, C. C. Hall, G. L. Brooks, W. J. Wilson, J. F. Luthy, E. L. Washburn, Chas. Maunder, C. W. Kennedy, W. M. Weaver, and J. W. Walker.

Motions for the success of the next fair upon this and that subject, all being carried unanimously, were made by J. K. Saint, C. W. Kennedy and others.

President Henselien will call the new directors together in a short time for organization, when active work toward the fair for next year will be inaugurated.

Death of Mrs. Levy.

Mrs. Albert Levy, of Sabinal, Socorro county, died at the residence of Mrs. Phillips, No. 402 Lead avenue, this city, at 9 o'clock this morning.

Mrs. Levy came to this city several months ago, suffering with abscess of the liver, but the disease developed into quick consumption and for the past few weeks her death was almost momentarily expected.

Six months ago her husband, Albert Levy, partner in the general merchandise firm of F. Levy & Co., Sabinal, arrived here to be at her bedside, and the faithful husband was untiring in his watch until death closed the eyes of his devoted and loving wife in that eve-clasping sleep.

This morning her two little daughters, aged respectively 4 and 7 years, were sent to school, and did not know of the death of their mother until they returned for dinner. The scene that followed, the pitiful pleadings of the little girls for their mother, was indeed, one of the saddest sights imaginable.

Mrs. Levy was 29 years and 8 months old, and leaves a husband and two daughters, with a number of other relatives and close friends to mourn her demise. Her sufferings were intense, but she bore up under them with heroic fortitude, and passed away without a murmur, in peaceful slumber.

The funeral will take place at Mrs. Phillips' to-morrow afternoon at 3 o'clock. Burial in the Jewish cemetery.

AYER'S Cherry Pectoral

SAVED HIS LIFE

So says Mr. T. M. Reed, a highly respected Merchant of Middletown, Ill., of a Young Man who was supposed to be in Consumption.

"One of my customers, some years ago, had a son who had all the symptoms of consumption. The usual medicines afforded him no relief, and he steadily failed until he was unable to leave his bed. His mother applied to me for some remedy and I recommended Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. The young man took it according to directions, and soon began to improve, until he became well and strong."—T. M. REED, Middletown, Ill.

"Some time ago, I caught a severe cold, my throat and lungs were badly inflamed, and I had a terrible cough. It was supposed that I was a victim of consumption, and my friends had little hope of recovery. But I bought a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, took it, and was entirely cured. No doubt, it saved my life."—L. JONES, Emerys Cove, Tenn.

SOLELY PREPARED BY

Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Special to the Citizens.

White Oaks, N. M., Oct. 12.—Hon. Antonio Joseph and H. B. Ferguson addressed the people here to-night. It was supposed by those who gathered in Bonnell's hall to hear them that the two well-known gentlemen were to speak on democratic principles and practices, as applied to national and territorial affairs.

But they were very much disappointed, as Mr. Joseph's harangue was devoted to about equal proportions to abuse of Mr. Catron and to laudation of himself. The effect of the first part of the speech was to convince everyone that the republican candidate was one of the ablest, or rather the ablest man in the Territory, and of the latter to prove that Mr. Joseph was and is one of the weakest men the same area affords. He was a sad disappointment how many votes his plaintive plea for election turned to either Mills or Catron.

He of course used the brick case against Mr. Catron for all it was worth, which was not much, as he paid for the brick, Mr. Joseph admits. And he also disclosed the information, perhaps unintentionally, that he had tried to buy a few bricks at the same rate, which lets in some light on why he considers the transaction so racially. He likewise went over the old story of Mr. Catron's "steal" of the old store from the foundation of the old United States penitentiary building, and his agreeing in 1886 to pay for it, which he claims he has not done, though a democratic district attorney had caused him to get down on his knees and beg the latter to quash an indictment found against him by the grand jury. But why did the said attorney quash the indictment without satisfaction for the alleged wrong? And why did the democratic district attorney then, and why does a democratic administration now, not push the matter if the government has a case against him? Mr. Joseph would have relieved some anxiety by making this clear, but he probably forgot to mention it. In all the rest of his disclosures he did not show that Mr. Catron had done anything illegal, though he might have used some sharp practice, as was quite common among men of influence and ability all over the West in its formative period, out of which it is only beginning to emerge.

Mr. Ferguson's speech, which was made in his usual earnest and able vein, contained not a line of argument. It did not pretend to be an argumentative effort, to do him justice, but was principally devoted to abuse of Mr. Catron, which seemed to a casual listener to be pretty strongly tinged with personal feeling. He was congratulated by a number of populists after the close of the meeting for being not far from the kingdom, he having lauded their speaker who delivered the long-winded address here a week ago, and declared himself as against Cleveland and with them on the tariff and financial questions.

The meeting was absolutely devoid of enthusiasm, and the democrats are not greatly braced up by its success.
